

Learn Tech Skills with Techlahoma

Techlahoma is a professional network of more than 4,000 information technology workers, hobbyists, students, teachers, and future technologists. Volunteers have created 32 free user groups and 4 conferences that train on the latest skills needed to obtain employment and succeed in today's increasingly tech-focused workforce. We teach and discuss topics ranging from design, coding, data science, hardware, mobile apps, and much more.

Get Involved!

Donate

Whether you make a small, one-time donation or sponsor an event, your gift supports our statewide educational initiatives. Any donations you give to the Techlahoma 501 (c)3 are tax deductible.

Volunteer

There are no requirements to start volunteering! The list of committees you can join range from administrative tasks, to social media, errand running, event setup help, and open-source software development.

techlahoma.slack.com

meetup.com/pro/techlahoma

techlahoma.org